

Sample Volunteer Recruitment Email 2

Hello,

Have you been wanting to volunteer but can't find the time? Perhaps you're concerned if your company will support your passion and desire to make a difference. At [Company Name], we understand the importance of giving back to the community and encourage our employees to volunteer their time, talent and treasure.

One of the nonprofit organizations that we support is Junior Achievement. We believe in their mission of preparing young people for future success. We invite you to learn more about how Junior Achievement's experiential programs equip students with 21st century skills that will prepare them to be valuable, contributing members of our community.

You can have a significant impact on local students by sharing your professional and personal experiences to help them envision a successful future. Volunteering benefits you, too:

- Volunteering can create new and exciting opportunities
- Volunteering with JA can improve your presentation, time management and organization skills
- Volunteering boosts moral and builds comradery with colleagues
- Volunteering gives you the opportunity to connect with your community
- Volunteering sets a good example for others around you

If you'd like more information about Junior Achievement and the impact they have on local student, visit their website at www.jaum.org. We hope to see you in the classroom!
